

PLATE XLVIII. FIG. 2.

THE CROSSED STONE AT LLANFIHANGEL AR ARTH.

This stone is placed against the church wall, and it is to the kindness of Miss Dora Jones, sister of the Bishop of St. David's, that I am indebted for a drawing and rubbing of it. It is a plain Latin cross marked with small crosses at the intersection of the limbs, and with a small very faint cross line scarcely visible for the titulus at the top. It rests upon a small transverse stroke, which is also marked with crossed lines, and below this the cross is extended by a line to the base of the stone. It has no vestige of an inscription upon it. Possibly the markings may indicate two separate crosses.

THE CROSSED STONE AT LLANGLYDWEN.

This stone stands in the churchyard and has been irregularly shaped into the form of the cross, being 3 feet 7 inches high (above ground), with the face ornamented with a cross with broad equal-sized limbs carved within a broad circle, the diameter of the latter being 15½ inches. It has a very venerable appearance, and is unquestionably of very early date.

CROSSED STONE AT CAPEL BACH, NEAR ABERGWILI.

A sketch and rubbing of this stone were sent to me in 1876 by the Rev. Aaron Roberts. It stands at Capel Bach ffos y Gest near Abergwili, and is 4½ feet high and 3 feet broad. There was formerly a church at this place, and the crossed stone now forms a stile from the churchyard to the adjoining field and facing the main entrance. It will be seen from my figure that the cross is quite a plain Latin one, the limbs being united by an incised line forming a depressed circle, the larger diameter of which is 16 inches.

PLATE XLVIII. FIG. 5.

THE LAUGHARNE CROSS.

This small ornamented wheel-topped stone has lately been discovered in digging a grave in the picturesque churchyard of Laugharne. It is about 30 inches high, the upper part forming a circle about 10 inches in diameter, within the circumference of which is a cable moulding which extends down each side of the stone, which is at the bottom about equal to the diameter of the top, the sides gradually converging to the lower part of the head. Within the cable moulding of the head is a cross of the Maltese form, the centre forming a slightly raised circle, the arms of the cross slightly dilated outwardly, the spaces between the arms
