

This stone was sought for in vain during the visit of the members of the Association in August 1878, during the Lampeter Meeting.

In addition to the stones described above, it is stated by Lewis (Top. Dict.) that there is preserved in the church of Llandewi brefi a very large horn, called by the inhabitants 'Mat-Korn ŷch Davydd,' which is said to have been in the possession of the parishioners since the time of the Saint.

THE ROMAN INSCRIPTIONS AT LLANNIO I SAV.

The Roman station of Loventium is placed by antiquarians between the right bank of the river Teivy and the road, at a place called Caer Castell, where some faint vestiges of embankment are visible, but it is on the flat towards the river that foundations of houses may be traced, and whence the Roman road called Sarn-Helen branched off both in a northerly and south-westerly direction. It is about a mile due west of Llandewi brefi, and now consists of a farm-house and farm-buildings. The Roman inscriptions represented in Plates LXXI and LXXVIII were here found, and that given in Plate LXXI. fig. 3 is now built into the east wall of one of the farm-buildings, about 15 feet from the ground above the horse-block. The stone is about 14 inches long and 4 inches wide. The letters are thin, tall and ill-formed capitals. An engraving of this stone was published by me in the Arch. Camb., 1871, p. 263, from a rubbing sent me by the Rev. H. L. Jones made on July 17, 1861, during the visit of 'the party' as recorded in Arch. Camb., 1861, p. 312, where the name upon the stone is given as OVERIONI, as it had also been given by Lhwyd and Sir S. Meyrick (Cardiganshire, Pl. V. fig. 8). The stone is however injured at the left end, and on examining it carefully during the Lampeter Meeting in August, 1878, we adopted the conclusion suggested by Mr. Robinson (one of the Secretaries of the Cambrian Archæological Association), that the first supposed letter was incomplete, and that its supposed right side indicated a centurial mark, leaving the real name VERIONI.

THE ENNIUS STONE FROM LLANNIO I SAV.

The stone here figured was formerly inserted in the wall near the door of one of the farm-buildings at Llannio i Sav, in which position it was described and figured by Lhwyd and Sir S. Meyrick (Cardiganshire, Pl. V. fig. 7). It was subsequently removed by J. Morris Davis, Esq., to his residence at Aberystwith, but at the Meeting of the Cambrian Archæological Association at Lampeter (August 1878) it appeared in the temporary museum in the College, and where it is to be hoped that it may be preserved. It is 11 inches long by 6 inches wide, and bears the inscription enclosed within the ordinary Roman frame.
